

Personal Documentation - Out of School Project (Scenario 3)

Freshman Zoë

Zoe makes a Halloween costume for fun using electronic thread and documents using Esporre. She wants to document her process so that she can remember how she made the costume and refer to this in the future when she does other projects.

UX Lane

Zoe researches how to use the thread. She uploads inspiration and instructions to a new project in Esporre.

Zoe chooses her materials and begins making her project. she uploads her progress and marks project phases and milestones to Esporre and social media.

Before making an important choice, Zoe reflects on her process so far. She thinks about the choices she's made and how they affected her current state.

Finishes design. Zoe is prompted to share to share with people and on social media.

Zoe shares on Facebook and shows final documentation to her little sister, who wants to be an e-seamstress, too!

Portfolio Process

Adds her own project to the system, documenting research and initial milestones

Esporre prompts her to add more milestones, updating her progress

System prompts reflection, Zoe reviews what she's done before continuing with the project

Showcases work for friends and family

Zoe uses her documentation, organized into milestones, to teach her sister how to complete the project.

Tools & System

Esporre pings Zoe to share her inspiration and research with Esporre to house all her materials in one place

While Zoe is constructing her costume Esporre checks in with her to upload process work and to help Zoe remember elements of the research she has already done

Esporre prompts Zoe to reflect either with the system (written / vocal) or internally about what work and what didn't and how to move forward

System prompts Zoe to publish her work

When Zoe has completed the project Esporre can highlight the milestone to present and show off her process

System Checks

- Research pinning and organization
- Milestone annotation

- Milestone annotation
- Social media sharing and linkage

- Prompted reflection

- Social media sharing
- File export

- System prompt to share

Human Interaction

Facebook friends view the project, congratulating Zoe on her accomplishment. Sister acquires new skills thanks to Zoe teaching